In Memoriam

J. E. Love

Death is but a name, a date,
A milestone by the stormy road,
Where you may lay aside your load
And bow your face and rest and wait,
Defying fear, defying fate.

Dedication

Construction this year of a new wing has added, among other things, a spacious new library, canteen, new offices and a student's lounge. This is only the beginning. A preview of great things to come, the realization of Dr. G. W. Kirby's dream. Our college, true to tradition, is building today for the citizens of tomorrow.

For this reason we, the staff of the Varshicom, decided to dedicate this years edition to this worthwhile and outstanding project.

Dr. Collett

Message To College

An enormously popular book back in the middle of the nineteenth century was one written by a shrewd Scotsman named Samuel Smiles, which he entitled "Self Help". It was one of the best sellers of the day in both Britain and the United States, and was translated into many languages. I imagine that it might become a best seller again to-day if some enterprising publisher decided to re-issue it in a modern format. In the preface, Mr. Smiles says that the object of the book was "to re-inculcate old fashioned but wholesome lessons — which cannot be too often urged — that youth must work in order to enjoy; that nothing creditable can be accomplished without application and diligence."

At the very start of the book he writes, "The spirit of self-help is the root of all genuine growth in the individual; and exhibited in the lives of many, it constitutes the true source of national vigor and strength. Help from without is often enfeebling in its effects, but help from within invariably invigorates. Whatever is done for men or classes, to a certain extent, takes away the stimulus and necessity of doing for themselves; and where men are subjected to over-guidance and over-government, the inevitable tendency is to render them comparatively helpless."

This is good advice for every day living and it is also sound educational philosophy. Students, who expect their teachers to do all their work for them, will never become efficient in their studies. The modern school provides for the student ample opportunities for self help and, consequently, for good progress in learning.

The most outstanding development at Mount Royal College during the past term has been the evidence of a development of this feeling of responsibility, and the desire of students to help themselves. Not only has this been evident in academic areas, but also the Student Councils have accepted their tasks with a maturity of outlook that is commendable. This attitude has been evident in the Reflector and now in the publishing of the Yearbook. The increase in the number of students in the library, the evident pride in the Student Lounge and increasingly mature attitudes in the Snack Bar, are all marks of the desire to assist. Thus, the task of administration has been made easier and restrictive regulations have been removed.

This is a vital and meaningful educational process of which we are all proud. It has been an inspiration to be associated with it this year, and I hope the spirit of the class of 1961 - 62 will continue to motivate our student body for years to come.

Editor's Message

George Elder

Late during the fall semester I accepted the responsibility of editor of your school yearbook. The staff of the '61-'62 Varshicom, although small in number, have tried to capture some of the highlights of your college year. I hope the job the staff has done pleases you, the student body, and the many long hours they have put forth will not have been in vain.

Their endeavor was to make the Varshicom your "Memory Book"; a book which, not now but in years to come, will remind you of the pleasant times you have had here at the College.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the staff: Donna Risdon, co-editor; Kathy Williamson and Jim Wilson, on layouts; George Baraccas and Mike Kelly, our photographers; and all those who have helped in any way with this publication. You all worked hard and you have my thanks.

On behalf of the staff and myself I would also like to wish all the students the best of luck in their exams and success in the future.

George Elder.

Message To Jr. College

R. W. McCready

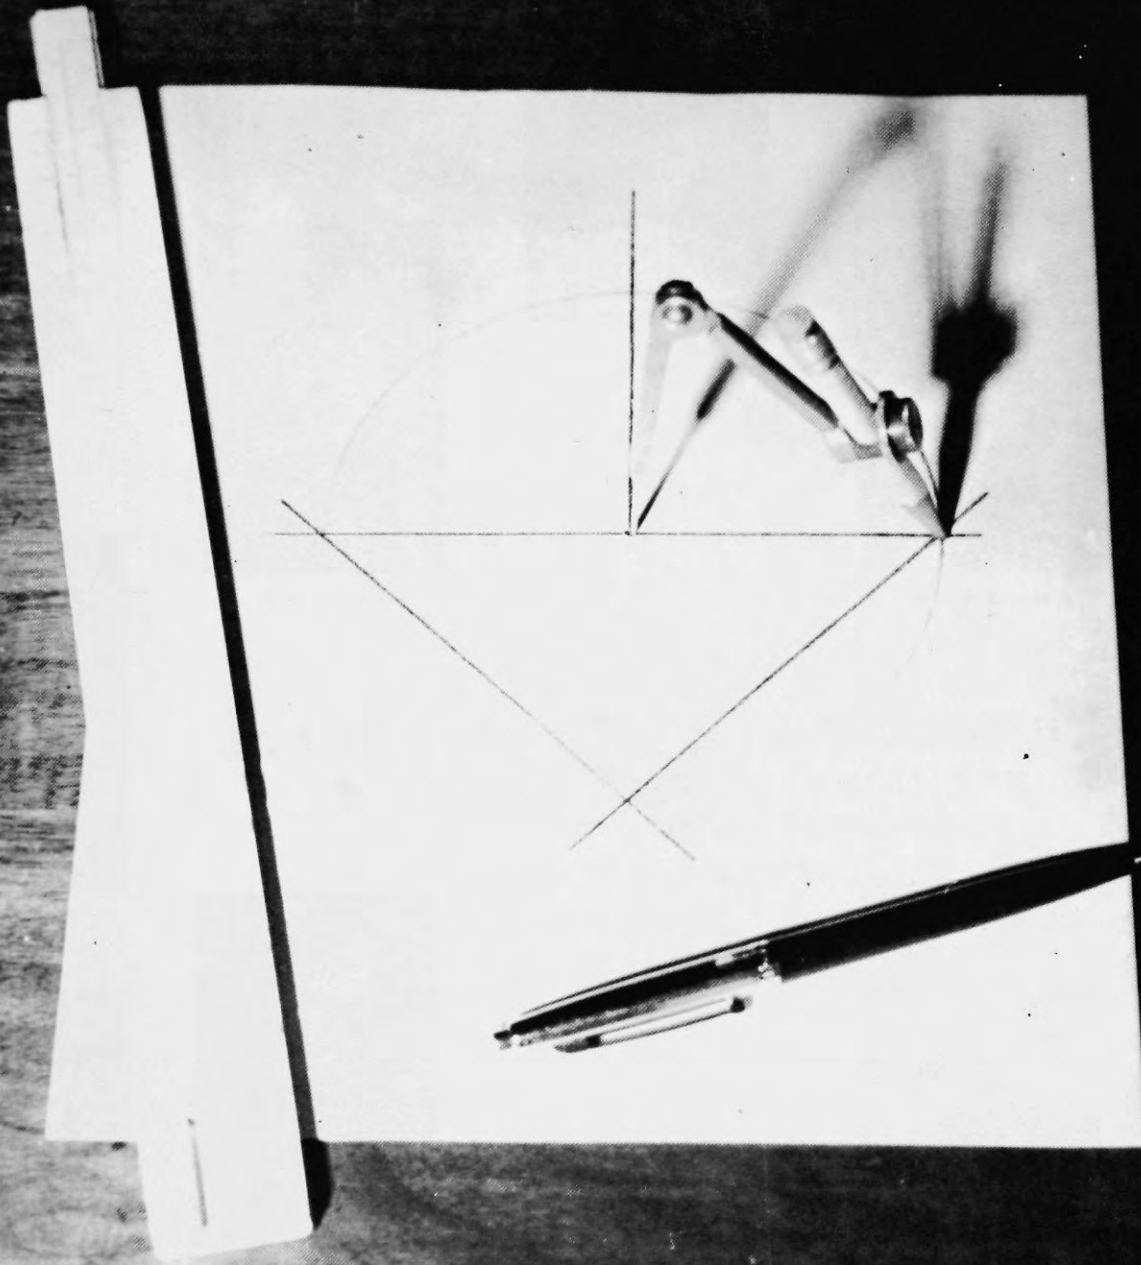

Since the time life has been possible on our planet, God has created many different types of living creatures, the remains of which have left the story in the rocks. The story tells us that He started with simple forms, like the automobile manufacturers, and progressively improved His models until the last one He has turned out is Man.

The unique feature that He has created in Man is his superior brain. The brain in man has given him a tremendous advantage over the other animals in meeting the problems due to environment. Animals must adapt to environment; Man can create an environment suitable to him.

The brain then is God's special gift to man. What a wonderful gift it is! The possibilities of its utilization is unlimited. With it, man can seek the truth, which is God Himself, and thus the brain makes man's communication with God possible. Those who wilfully neglect its development are spurning His gift just as the servant who buried his one talent in the ground.

The school then is a temple, and its teachers and administrators are a special type of priesthood dedicated to the purpose of helping man put God's special gift to the best use; learning to seek out the mysteries of the universe, create beauty, make a favourable environment and live in harmony with his fellow men and the universe.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Peter Slaa

In the past year we have witnessed a great physical change at Mount Royal. Along with the addition of an east wing to the Kirby Memorial Building, came increased student facilities, including a spacious new canteen and a lounge.

As the college grows so must the responsibility of future students. The acceptance of responsibility is essential for each student in building further academic stability and social co-ordination within the college.

This year the machinery was set in motion to join the grade twelve group with the Junior College to form one unified body, eventually working toward a complete Junior College complex. A new constitution will take effect this fall allowing for one council governing the affairs of five student societies. We hope this will result in added solvency within the school and enable the council to function more efficiently for the benefit of you, the student.

A word of appreciation goes out to all those who have assisted in making the 1961-62 term one of the most successful in Mount Royal's history.

I would like to add my personal congratulations to the Graduating class and wish them success in their future endeavors.

Social Highlights

BANFF EXCURSION

The Banff Excursion of February 4 was a tremendous success. All forty-nine students who made the trip enjoyed themselves thoroughly. Their memories will include a weiner roast at beautiful Lake Minnewanka, fun skiing and tobogganning at Mt. Norquay, and the black sack bathing suits at the Cave and Basin. Roast-beef dinner at the Banff cafe rounded off the day except for the trip home to the College, which was topped off with a quick refresher course of donuts and soft drinks.

M.R.C. QUEEN

Interest and excitement dominated the college during the week of December 2 - 9. The event, of course, was the annual M.R.C. Sweet-heart contest. Contestants Kathy Nickles, Barb Weiland, Linda Mitchel and Val Short found themselves caught up in a hectic whirl of fashion shows, speeches, and skits. The week was climaxed by a victory dance — the YULETIDE RENDEZVOUS, where the winner, Barb Weiland, was crowned amid roses and showers of gifts. The Golden Age Club provided the setting for the dance.

THE SADIE HAWKINS DAY DANCE

The annual Sadie Hawkins Day Dance sponsored by the Commercial Society was held on November 17, 1961 in the College gym. The decoration committee followed a theme of "Dog-patch." Music was provided by the Embers and prizes were given for various dances. Gifts of theatre tickets were given to the best male and female costumes based on their originality. Congratulations girls, your dance was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended.

VALENTINE FROLIC

The Social Welfare and T.V. societies banded together to sponsor the February 16th Valentine Frolic. The gym was transformed into a cupid wonderland. A highlight of the dance was the "Slave for a Day" door prize. Two winners — Martin Griggs and Sid Jones. Two unfortunate slaves — Arla Sollberger and Alice Evans.

ARTS & SCIENCE WEEK

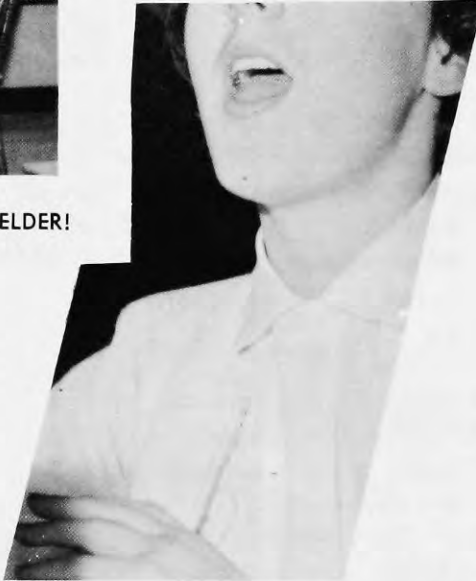

The Arts and Science Society, this year, went all out to try and establish themselves as a functional unit of the school. Their effort culminated in ARTS AND SCIENCE CULTURE WEEK, which included, among numerous other activities; an art exhibit in the Lounge; guest speakers, W. O. Mitchel and Mr. A. Keys (Director of the Allied Arts Center); a movie, The Jazz Singer; ballet; a Physics Lab demonstration and a debate between Arts and Science and Business Administration — which Arts and Science won, of course. Friday was highlighted by the famed M.R.C. Dribblethon, and the week came to a very successful close with a dance in the College gym. M.R.C. says, "Thanks" to all those who made this week the great success that it was and we hope the Arts and Science Society makes this an annual event in the years to come.

A Note To Mr. Taylor

We thank you Mr. Taylor,
For what you did that day.
You blocked the road to Edmonton,
But we gained another way.

Our dribblers never reached their goal,
They stopped outside the city.
Your lawful men they turned us back,
It surely was a pity.

But sir, we thank you for the spark
You kindled on that morn.
For on that day at M.R.C.
A concept new was born.

Some did say the spark was pride;
And pride indeed was in it.
But the fire you sparked that day,
Was really COLLEGE SPIRIT.

In 1873, Cardinal Newman declared the aim of a university to be nothing more than “intellectual excellence.”

Is “intellectual excellence” a purpose broad enough to meet the demands of life in 1962? The smashing of the atom, ushering in the nuclear age, has opened up vast new frontiers for us to explore. The problems created by this era cannot be solved alone by intellectual excellence. Now, a university must function to help the student develop the quality of mind needed to cope with life in today's world: a mind that is alert and reasoning; flexible and sensitive — a mind that is alive and searching — eager for new knowledge, eager to explore beyond the new frontiers; and capable of doing this because the student has developed morally and emotionally, as well as intellectually. He has learned to view life in its true perspective; to relate life with meaning and purpose to “the mysterious universe in which he finds himself.”

He should be prepared to live life to the fullest, and to achieve a greater degree of happiness and personal satisfaction. He should also be prepared to make a creative and constructive contribution to society.

One of the paradoxes of history is that everything Man creates can be used to build or — to destroy. Because the human race is between survival and annihilation, the powers of all thinking people must be channeled in the direction of constructive creativity.

THIS is the major challenge confronting us — the graduates of 1962. For this challenge, Mount Royal has endeavored to prepare its students. When we leave this college which has become so much a part of us, it will be up to each of us as individuals to decide what use we will make of the tools we have forged here.

In the words of Thomas Henry Huxley, “the great end of life is not knowledge — but action.

Message To Graduates

As I watch the parade of students go by year after year, I wonder at many things; but one question is always there: Is Mount Royal nurturing the truth "that free creative thought is the end of all education?"

True freedom is only of the mind. It is in our minds that we rule supreme; no one can tell us what we must think; none can compel us to think. It is here the danger lies. Surrounded as we are by "isms" and "ideologies", we forget that these are not the real enemies of free thought; they are just the refuse left by our effort to find a higher standard of living. Day by day we are bombarded with "the facts of life", "Arm for the fray!" "Stay alive; learn to survive!", "Join the League for Peace if you want to escape annihilation!". Never do our American friends or our "shoe-waving" little Communist Comrades stop to point out anything more than "It is dangerous to have one creative and original thought".

Our immediate environment is of little help. We are cheated at every turn out of our chance to think. Our teachers tell us, our radios sing to us, our televisions show us how much more pleasant it is to sit and absorb.

Original thinking has always taken an effort, and the exhilarating reward is not always immediately apparent. To us it has become easier to let others think about our problems, about "war and peace", about our "educational future", even about decorating for the dance tonight. Our world is smothering us in a "cotton-wool" of conformity. Yes, this is easier than to make the effort to think originally and creatively.

May Mount Royal help each of you to learn that thinking costs, but that the cost is small beside the value received.

MEL GALE

This year at Mount Royal College has been a great success in all respects. Our athletic teams have all done well, our social functions have been numerous and enjoyable and most important, Mount Royal has had an excellent year scholastically.

From the beginning of the year, when our superb new building was opened, Mount Royal was off to a good start. The new classrooms and offices have made things easier and more pleasant for both teachers and office staff. The new library, common room and lounge have also added immeasurably to the scholastic and social life of all the students. The student's council room, another new innovation at the college, has made the controlling and planning of students affairs, easier for both councils. In all, Mount Royal has taken another step up the ladder of success.

As President of the High School Student's Council, I can sincerely say that I have enjoyed being a part of Mount Royal and I hope that through my work on the council, I have, in some small way, been able to contribute something to the College. It is with pride that I look forward to Mount Royal having many more and better years ahead.

E-Awards

Receipients selected by the students for outstanding work in an elected or appointed office in any organization throughout the College.

John Peter Bate

First year Arts and Science.

Selected for his outstanding work on the Junior College Society as an Arts and Science representative. His mature opinions and good common sense have been a tower of strength throughout the year. And he has been willing at all times to assist any project that was undertaken and did so on many occasions.

George David Elder

First year Business Administration.

Selected for his splendid work as Editor-in-Chief, Business Manager, and a lot of hard, tedious work in preparing the Varshicom, our annual yearbook.

Dennis Radyk Lazarowich

Sopohmore year in Arts and Science.

Selected for his work in connection with cultural week at the College. This was an outstanding achievement. A credit not only to Mr. Lazarowich, but also to the Arts and Science Society which sponsored his event.

Peter Slaa

Graduating in Business Administration.

Selected for his devotion to duty and the many long hours put in to keep things running smoothly and for the many trials and tribulations he has had to overcome to make this a successful year.

Barbara Jean Weiland R.N.

Training to become a nurse-secretary-stenographer.

Selected for her devotion to duty and many long, extra hours to her position as secretary. All this in addition to being a regular member of the MRJC Girls Basketball Team. Barbara was also voted the sweetheart of Mount Royal Junior College.

Sports Director's Message

George Hansen

The Athletic program of a college should provide an outlet for every student no matter what their ability may be.

This past year, our Interscholastic program has been very successful but, I feel that the Intramural program has been sadly neglected. This in part is due to the arrangement of classes whereby there is only a short time for lunch. It is my sincerest wish that next year we will be able to overcome this problem somehow so that the various schools will be able to compete against one another.

If we can set this type of program up, we should be able to build up our school spirit which has been very poor this past year. We can build up a tremendous competitive spirit within our walls which in turn will reflect on the varsity teams who compete in the various interscholastic competitions.

I would like to take this opportunity to wish those students who will not be returning to Mount Royal College the very best in their future. To those who will return to our school, let's try and make Mount Royal College the best ever in the 1962-1963 school year.

A Roman Catholic football star went to a sterling but absent-minded priest every week for confession. The priest had the habit of marking the number of sins on his sleeve with a piece of chalk in order to mete out the proper penance. "Father," said the player one day, "I ran clear across the field to clip a player in our last game." "That was very wrong my son," said the priest, making a chalk mark. "When he fell, I kicked him in the teeth." "How terrible, my son! Will you never learn Christianity?" "And when the referee wasn't looking, I chewed off a piece of his ear." "Saints preserve us! You're a disgrace to your fine teachers and school!" And by this time the chalk marks were clear up to the priest's elbow. "What was the team you were playing, my son?" "Mount Royal College," said the player. "Oh," beamed the priest, rubbing off every mark on his sleeve. "I guess boys will be boys."

FOOTBALL

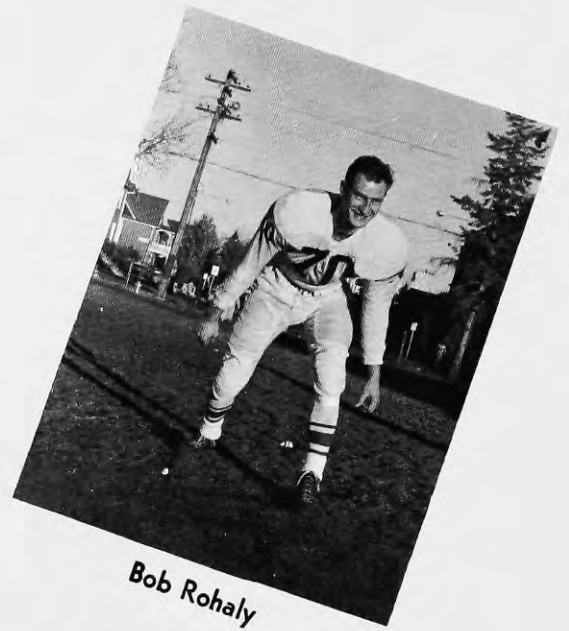

The leadership of four coaches — Mr. Borger, Mr. Cassanova, Mr. Valdz and Mr. Honey — contributed a lasting impression upon forty members of M.R.C.'s football club. Without their constant supervision and guiding hand (boot) the season's success would never have unveiled. The companionship and team spirit was prevalent with the first practice session and success of the previous year was enough to warrant a successful season for 1961, however the playoffs proved different. The team did not win provincial playoffs but the personal gain of the individual was immense. Cougars gained leadership, sportsmanship, companionship, and a sense of responsibility. Prestige of M.R.C. has increased with the onslaught of the Cougars and still their future is undecided.
